Handouts/Materials Provided:

NONE REQUIRED

Summary of Activity for the Advisor:

1. Clear a large area in classroom (or preferably gym or hallway)
2. Place students in middle of open space.
3. Yell out a number. The group has to break off into smaller groups of that number. Anyone who is not in a group, or in a group with the incorrect number, is out. Continue playing until only one person remains.

Read/Review/Discuss/Do with students:

- Allow students to take turns yelling out numbers and repeat.
- What does it feel like to be left out?
- Is this game a metaphor for school? How so?
